

Screening A[i]gent:

Technical Overview

THE PROBLEM

Top of funnel chaos has recruiters overwhelmed & top talent gets lost.

Beyond the obvious application mismatches & 6-second rejections → we enter the gray zone, where top candidates become hidden among messy hiring funnels. Thorough, early-stage vetting takes time we don't have when busy with the top 5-10% of inflated ATS scores. This means missed talent, inconsistency, bias, & the opposite of candidate excellence. 🙌 We can do better!

Interview question: Tell me about a time when you were communicating with someone and they did not understand you. What did you do?

 Strong no	 No	 Mixed	 Yes	 Strong yes
Provides an unclear description of the relationship dynamic/ context and struggles to outline their summary of the situation to the interviewer.	Offers an indistinct summary of the intended message to the interviewer and does not acknowledge any unique relationship dynamics/ added context that may have contributed to the communication breakdown. Does not take accountability for their role in the communication breakdown (for example, "I don't see why they didn't understand") and has not demonstrated how they learned from this situation in future conversations with this person or others within the workplace.	Offers a vague depiction of the situation (the message they were looking to convey, the relationship with the other person and where the miscommunication occurred). Provides a loose outline of the steps taken to identify a plan to remedy the communication breakdown OR a cursory summary of what they learned from the experience. Demonstrates empathy for the other person but does not leverage it in articulating their strategy to revise their approach for the follow-up conversation.	Clearly defines the intended vision of the message for the stakeholder to the interviewer and discusses where/how the message was lost in translation. Acknowledges any unique or relevant relationship dynamics that might have contributed to the message being interpreted clearly. Demonstrates empathy in identifying the source of the communication breakdown and holds self accountable for identifying an alternative pathway to communicate with the stakeholder. Clarifies any subsequent steps in preserving and/or growing the relationship with the stakeholder and added measures taken in adjusting communication (delivery, style/approach) for other conversations.	Clearly defines the intended vision of the message for the stakeholder to the interviewer and discusses where/how message was lost in translation. Acknowledges any unique or relevant relationship dynamics that might have contributed to (or from) the message being interpreted clearly. Demonstrates empathy in identifying the source of the communication breakdown and holds self accountable for identifying an alternative pathway to communicate with the stakeholder. Clarifies any subsequent steps in preserving and/or growing the relationship with the stakeholder and added measures taken in adjusting communication (delivery, style/approach) for other conversations. Considers the experience a learning opportunity to iterate and situate their communication style to match the expectations of the audience.
